

Primitive man

Web

Create a web page to introduce primitive man findings based on the following description.

- Create two files with names osember.html and nean.html.
 - The text of the pages can be found in file osforras.txt, one after the other.
 - The pictures necessary for the solution of the exercise: ember.jpg, neanderk.gif, rajz.jpg, bal_nyil.gif.
1. The background colour of both pages is moccasin (colour with code #FFE4B5) and the text colour is navy (colour with code #000080).
 2. The title – on one “Primitive man”, on the other “Neanderthal man” – should be Heading1, aligned centered. The content of the title appearing in the header of the browser should be identical with these.
 3. In osember.html, place ember.jpg after the title centered, bordered with border width 1 pt. The two paragraphs can be inserted into the page from file osforras.txt.
 4. In the first paragraph convert “a fossil skeleton” into a link that links to the other file, nean.html.
 5. Insert picture rajz.jpg aligned centered as shown in the example, then place the second paragraph on the page, aligned left.
 6. In nean.html highlight the title by a line of width 400 points, aligned centered.
 7. After the line, create a table with width 700 points, without borders, aligned centered.
 8. Insert picture neanderk.gif into the left cell and the last paragraph of osforras.txt into the right cell.
 9. At the end of the page, place picture bal_nyil.gif on the left and convert it into a link that leads to page osember.html.

Primitive man  In 1859, when Ch. Darwin published his work The origin of species, he already knew that three years before a fossil skeleton had been found in Germany, which was the remnant of a man who lived in the ice age and who had "more primitive" appearance than modern man. Therefore in his book he could refer to the fact that the laws of evolution also apply to mankind.  The first written pictures originating from the Ice Age were found in the Altamira cave in Spain in the first half of the 20th century. The walls of the cave were decorated with coloured pictures of animals, paintings about bisons, boars, wild horses.	Neanderthal man <hr style="width: 400px; margin: auto;"/>  300 thousand years ago the so-called Neanderthal man appeared. In this age primitive man lived not only in Africa, but also in the area to the north of it, which had colder climate. The size of the body, for example the brain volume of a man living at that time exceeded the size of modern man. When compared to the 150-160 cm high homo erectus, Neanderthal man was a giant with their height of 2 m.
